

SEARCH BLOG

FLAG BLOG

Next Blog»

Create Blog | Sign In

Powered by Earth911.com

Get this widget

Find a recycling location

what? aluminum cans, motor oil

where? zip or city, state

GO

Sunday, April 26, 2009

One more new green discovery and a resolution

When I went out to The Lazy Goat Friday night I saved half of my meal as usual. I was pleasantly surprised though when the waitress brought the box back to me after putting the leftovers in for me. Instead of a typical white styrofoam to go box I received was tan with a very cool weave type composition.

I knew at first sight that this had to be some sort of "green" material. I was right. I opened up the box and written on the inside of the lid was written "100% Compostable. Monogram. Sustain. Made from Sugarcane Fiber". The sugarcane fiber part I thought was incredibly

Followers

Follow

with Google Friend Connect

Followers (15)

Already a member? Sign in

00000551

Contributors

- ◆ eva
- ◆ Eric

Blog Archive

▼ 2009 (30)

▼ April (8)

- One more new green discovery and a resolution
- Yes, I'd like a box for this.
- Earth Day
- New Green self-discoveries
- Fun with Government Agencies "Going Green."
- Could you answer that please?
- So what did we do with all that paper? According...
- This is how it happens.

► March (7)

► February (8)

► January (7)

► 2008 (21)

Subscribe To

Posts ▼

Comments ▼